Greetings from Guidance

Yikes! Almost February and where has it gone? There is so much to talk about and so much to report on that I could fill up the newsletter. I am slowly working my way through all the grades to make sure I see every student at least one time for lunch and that every student gets a chance to pick a few friends to bring along. And on a regular basis, I am seeing individual students to help when things are a little sad or overwhelming. There's still second Step and, much to their horror, Puberty Class coming up for 5th grade.

The Student Council keeps me very busy with their enthusiasm for ways to make VES better for everyone. Currently, they are exploring ideas for recess clubs like an ice skating rink out back or a graffiti group. They have also come up with the great suggestion for some type of peer tutoring and we are looking into the best way to make that happen. More to follow.

The Restorative Justice panel did complete their video and showed it to all the upper grades and answered questions from the students. They are eagerly waiting to put their training and skills to practice. We will let you know how that progresses.

As always, thank you for the daytime loan of your wonderful children; during these trying times, they bring a smile to my face and are a pleasure to greet every day.
--Mrs. Rayl
